Doing All Through Christ . . .

Prologue

The 1984 Milestone portrays the end of short excursions in the longer journies of the lives pictured herein. At the same time is marked the continuation of pilgrimages of students, of faculty members, of our retiring president and of our newly installed president.

For all of these pilgrims, DOING ALL THROUGH CHRIST is a motto, a battle cry, and a testimony. As the people portrayed in this book live out its theme, a consuming fire is lit and burns, a beacon for the lost and pillar in the desert.

Message from the President

I came to Washington in July 1930 at the age of 26 to work for the Government as a Structural Engineer. My years of association with Washington Bible College began in September 1930 in a Bible class taught by Miss Ethel Vance. This class was sponsored by the American Home Bible Institute. At that time I had no assurance of salvation, but had an interest in knowing the Bible.

In January 1931 I came to personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ accompanied with a deep desire to know the Scriptures. Soon I was teaching beginning Bible studies, and in 1937 was elected President of the American Home Bible Institute. In 1938, along with two other small Bible Institutes, we joined to form the Washington Bible Institute. In 1956 the name of the school was changed to Washington Bible College. Also, in 1938 I married Ruth Crawford who greatly supported me in my endeavors to serve the Lord.

I was President of the new school, on a part-time basis, until the Fall of 1940 when Glenn Wagner came as the first full-time President. He served in this capacity until the Fall of 1944 when he resigned in order to serve with the Pocket Testament League. I again took over the leadership of the school. In the Spring of 1945 I resigned my Government position and assumed the full-time Presidency of the school.

The step from Government service to WBC was not a difficult decision, for it was where my heart lived! I asked Ruth what she thought about such a move and her reply was, "Whatever the Lord leads you to do I am with you 100%." We were blessed with twin girls, Grace and Ester, born in 1941, and another daughter, Martha, born in 1942.

When I presented my resignation to the Government, one of my fellow engineers asked me what my salary would be. When I told him I did not know for I had not asked, he was sure that I would starve to death. He was wrong!

The joy that was mine in 1945 has never diminished. I saw the teaching of the Word of God as something I could give my life to without reservation.

I had several goals that consumed my energies. First, I wanted a school that would qualify in academic excellence. Second, a school that would provide Bible study for all, including correspondence courses, an adult education program, college and post graduate level. Today all of these are in operation, along with teaching on the radio. Third, to keep personal evangelism and missions a constant challenge to the students. Fourth, to keep the Biblical truth of the imminent return of Christ vital in all of our classrooms. Fifth, to make certain the product of Bible teaching would result in sanctified lives.

The Lord provided facilities at 1441-1449 Rhode Island Avenue in northwest Washington as our school home for 23 years. As the student body grew there was increased need for facilities, faculty, and finances. When we could no longer secure needed buildings on Rhode Island Avenue, the Lord provided the beautiful 63-acre campus in suburban Lanham, Maryland in 1969.

Perhaps the greatest personal satisfaction has been the devotion on our graduates to the will of God. Over 80% are in some distinguished expositions of the Word. Our foreign missionary family has representatives from many different countries. The desire to make Christ known characterizes the product of the classroom.

As the school was founded in prayer, so prayer has continued to be the means of progress. Our Prayer Steward family echoes the praises and petitions of our school before the Lord.

Only the Lord could have provided the loyal and capable faculty and staff essential to this ministry. Their personal devotion to the Lord and fellowship with common convictions and goals has made our labors a delight.

The Lord has become precious to us because of His faithfulness through the many trials which He sent. Satan has sought to hinder the ministry by his wiles on many occasions.

Forty is God's number of testing. For nearly forty years it has been my privilege to know God's presence, power and provision in both calm and storm, poverty and plenty, joy and sorrow, with never a failure on His part. When we stumbled, He upheld us. When we were weak and helpless, He gave strength and deliverance. "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us" and all the praise and honor belong to Him whose promises never fail.

Hudson Taylor said, "God's callings are God's enablings." I think this sums up my life. I would encourage you to always be open to the leading of the Lord and never shrink from obedience to His will. Do not dwell on self, but rather keep your eyes upon the Lord whose ways are perfect. Remember when God called Moses, He explained to him His program, and promised him His presence, His power and His provision. Since the Lord did all that for Moses will He do any less for you?

Testimonies

As a student, I remember that President Miles was always interested in our problems. I once had the Measles and President Miles visited me in the Infirmary. He prayed with me and suggested a verse of Scripture (1 Cor. 2:14) which has become precious to me over the years.

Harriet J. Fowler

My very first remembrance, last and continuing impression of George Miles is of a "presence" in the man that exudes both authority and kindness. The first commands respect; the second elicits love for him.

Sam W. Fowler

Washington Bible College will never be the same without George Miles. I am always thankful for his faithfulness to the teaching of the Word and for his personal interest in all the students. We remember and are again thankful for his friendship and interest in us not only during student years, but all during the past 25 years we have spent in Morocco.

Jim and Barbara Pitts

We will always remember President Miles' abiding concern for souls.

Dedication

How can we express thanks and appreciation to a man who, for love of Christ, left a lucrative engineering job to invest his life in preparing labourers for his Father's harvest? I believe that we can do this in three ways: First, we can thank our God for demonstrating His love for us through the life of His servant. Second, we can express our gratitude in a concrete way, and third, we can continue in the things that this man has taught us.

In fulfillment of the first we do magnify and thank our eternal God for His gift of George Miles to our college. When Christ our risen Lord ascended into heaven, He gave to His church gifts; men for the "perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body." Certainly President Miles is our gift.

For more than forty years George A. Miles has served as our president and spiritual father. He has counseled, prayed for, encouraged, admonished and personally supported each of us. We have been personally blessed as he taught and made clear God's Word to us. He is a shining example of a consistent and faithful Christian servant whose burning desire is to do the will of God. He is committed to the spreading of the good news of Christ's undying love for humanity, within the community, over radio and abroad. Wherever he has an opportunity, he speaks of Christ.

President Miles, we love and appreciate you. As a token of our love and high esteem, we dedicate the 1984 Milestone to you.

From The Seniors

George A. Miles' influence has been evidenced in many different ways. First, there was that sense of a life totally dedicated to the Lord Jesus Christ. This came on the firm conviction of God's Word and His plan revealed through God's Son. The manner in which President Miles displayed his life has exhibited, to those who met him, a person who has been with Christ. The Christian life for President Miles is not "in word only"; but also in actions and reactions. Actions based on Christ's commands in obedience to His Word, and reactions to those who had a need, both material and spiritual. President Miles' life has been an example, to us, of a person who has lived for God.

Secondly, his influence extended to a conviction that a Bible education was the primary and most useful education one could obtain. This was evidenced in the fact of his becoming President of the American Home Bible Institute in 1937 to 38, part-time president of WBI in 1938 and full-time president in 1945. In President Miles' mind, there can be no greater pursuit than to give oneself diligently to the study of the Word of God. This is foundational to all life experiences of the Christian. While other schools have gotten away from the "Bible College" ideals of what constitutes education, President Miles' conviction has maintained WBC's commitment to the "knowledge of the Holy."

Lately, President Miles' influence has been one of Vision. Again, this has come on the basis of a life lived in close communion with the Savior. A favorite verse of both former WBC President Glenn Wagner and President Miles' wife was Jer. 33:3 — "Call upon me and I will show you great and mighty things which you know not." But in a larger sense it has become also ours because of President Miles' willingness to allow God to infect him with a vision of greater and much nobler thoughts concerning the future of WBC. This vision extended to finding a larger campus when the Rhode Island complex became inadequate — and God provided. It involved believing God for a graduate level program to train those who wanted to go beyond college — and God raised up Capital Bible Seminary. Classroom space, dorm facilities and other needs arose — and God answered. President George Miles has an experience of vision that passes all others, because he has seen God answer in great and mighty ways.

In closing, we must recognize that while we can shower praises on this man for his service, he would rather have us direct the praise toward heaven and praise Him who gives us all blessings to enjoy. This is the real test of greatness. "Whoever among you who would be the greatest, let him become the servant of all." President George A. Miles passed this test.

Teaching

FACULTY

Thumbs up to our faculty for a job well done! To each of you we pay tribute; for we love you and appreciate your willingness to teach us. Your consistency in and out of the classroom is admirable. Sometimes we labor over the seemingly endless quizzes, exams, and term papers, but we know that your desire and supreme purpose is to equip us for a life of victories in Christ. We appreciate and highly esteem each of you and deem it a privilege to be your pupils. Thank you for obeying Matthew 28:20 "Go ye therefore and teach all nations . . . to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you."

Pastoral Department

The Department of Pastoral Ministries, headed by Dr. David Kim, is our largest in the college. Its purpose is to train Pastors to minister effectively in our times. To achieve this purpose, our students have five goals: to enjoy a rich and consistent daily walk with the Lord; to acquire a thorough knowledge in the Bible and theology; to be an effective communicator of the Biblical truths; to acquire various practical skills of ministry; and to develop a godly character.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Bos

SACRED MUSIC

The Department of Sacred Music, through its Music Appreciation course, daily chapel music ministry and individual lessons, equips the Washington Bible College student with the basic requirements for developing a personal philosophy of music that is an asset to every Christian minister. Biblical Christianity is a musical faith. A Bible College education would be incomplete without an introduction to music. Note the advice of Colossians 3:16 "Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord."

The Sacred Music Department prepares those students who have chosen music as a minor to skillfully provide music leadership in the church and in church related ministries.

EDUCATIONAL MINISTRIES

The Educational Ministries Department, headed by Dan Esterline, has as its purpose to see Christian education as a process of helping people mature in Christ. This purpose is to be backed up with the goal that the student, or Christian educator, would go forth being committed to a people-helping ministry; seeing the church not only as an organization, but as an organism, a community of believers.

CHRISTIAN SCHOOL TEACHER

The purpose of the Christian school teacher is to effectively minister in a teaching capacity in secular, private, and parochial schools, here and around the world. The goal of the Christian school teacher should be the fulfillment of the commission "... go and teach ..." not only in biblical studies, but in every area of life, living the truth of the Gospel as we teach all subjects and relate the truths of the Scripture to those subjects.

EVANGELISM AND MISSIONS

Shortly before ascending into Heaven, Christ our Lord commissioned His followers to be His witnesses to all nations; to teach all people to observe all things as commanded by Him. His promise was that His Spirit would empower them; that He Himself would be with them. They would therefore be able to Do All Things through Him.

—With this commission and promise in mind, the Evangelism and Missions Department prepares students for a life of communicating Christ to people of varying ethnicity. Students learn both the theory and methodology of evangelism and Christian missions.

ATHLETIC DEPT.

The Athletic Department here at Washington Bible College is concerned that all participants, whether they be in the varsity, intramural, or physical education program, understand the goal of Christian athletics. Competitive athletics is an opportunity to test one's faith under fire; a chance to make the right decisions in the heat of the moment. It is also a chance for spiritual growth. Physical victory is to be sought for, but must be subordinate to spiritual growth and maturity in the Lord. A successful year is not necessarily reflected in the number of games won, but how an individual or team reacted in the midst of athletic trials. This year's WBC teams encountered many opportunities to not only grow in the Lord, but to represent Him in a worthy way.

Catherine Anthony: By God's grace, I was given an immeasurable treasure: I was born into a Christian home with loving parents and grandparents. They gave me to the Lord when I was born and in time I came to Christ.

I have had several fascinating jobs, including one as an instructor with Trans World Airlines, where I flew all over the world for free.

Several times I turned away from God, but He never gave me up and I am secure in my knowledge that He love's and forgives me.

Now He has given me a most satisfying job, teaching English and literature with a Christian faculty.

Phil Bena: I was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts on October 31, 1955.

While growing up, I was exposed to religion but I never heard the gospel until I was 18 years old. It was in January of 1974 that a friend explained the good news to me in my apartment for the first time and I responded by receiving Christ.

In 1975 I began attending Bible

College and during that time I met and married my wife, Brenda.

After Bible College, I attended graduate school and finished in 1982.

I began working full time at Washington Bible College in August of 1982.

It is a delight to be used of God to instruct and guide young people in matters pertaining to life and godliness through the knowledge of Him.

My daily prayer for all our students is that they shall be engaged in full time Christian living — only fearing the LORD and serving Him in truth with all their heart; considering the great things He hath done for them.

What am I doing at WBC?

After reading a tract in a hospital waiting room, I acknowledged the truth of Isaiah 64:6 and prayed to receive Christ. Being prodded by the Holy Spirit, I started going to church. It was liberal in its theology and little of God's Word was taught with authority; however, there was a core of believers who taught me love and good works.

Four Years later my family and I began attending a Bible church. On questioning the pastor, I discovered he had gained his exegetic skills at WBC. I thought the neatest thing in the world would be to sit under that quality of teaching.

The teaching here and required studying has healed my broken heart and enabled me to continually sing praises to my God. I have learned He is a loving, compassionate God who is intimately concerned for every believer. I plan to continue my studies and obtain a teaching degree to enable me to minister to children.

Priscilla Seitz
(Penny) Neh. 8:10

Eph. 5:15-17 displays the two aspects that are embodied in the word "sophomore". "Sophos" is the Greek word for "wise" while "moros" is the word meaning "foolish". Studying these verses discloses two practices of one who is wise. One, he has priorities for his time, and two, he understands God's will.

Making priorities of the church specifically (and in application the home) results in four unique benefits. In Hebrews 10:24-25, I see the church as a source of encouragement and place of service. Hebrews 13:17 tells me it is also a source of spiritual protection and a place of accountability. Each one of these is vital in training for ministry.

We, as students of W.B.C., are preparing to be the future leaders amid the spiritual warfare described in Ephesians 6. Our success in that conflict will be determined on the proving grounds of the bootcamp of the home and church.

Sophomore. Which half of the word are you?

Praise God for Washington Bible College, for it is here that I have grown measurably in Christ. I extend my heartfelt thanks to all faculty, staff, and friends who have helped me academically, emotionally, and spiritually. I thank the Lord for placing me in a loving family of believers who share their lives with and listen to me. Whether we're in class, in the gym, at McDonald's, or just goofing around, friends who care are always near. It is with these friends that I have been able to put into practice principles taught in the classroom. I look forward to the year ahead at WBC in which I hope to continue learning and growing.

Evening College

"The fear of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom; and before honor is humility."
Proverbs 15:33

Evening College

It is evening and the dinner hour is over, it is time to relax after a long day of classes. Oh, for a moment to idle by as one chooses. It is 6:00 and the grueling 8-hour day has just ended, now for the long ride home to a tasty meal and the warmth of the family. Ah, but neither of the above are so for the Evening College Student (ECS). For whether he attends college full-time during the day or works, his day does not end at 6:00. He has yet another responsibility to fulfill, that of his evening class. But who is this strange breed that elects to delay well-deserved rest? The object of this article is to steal a bit of the day college's lime-light and then spotlight the ECS. The look we take at him will be brief, but hopefully it will be interesting and informative. While it may not be exhaustive in its discussion of the peculiarities of the ECS, it will at least leave the reader with a general idea of whom the ECS body consists and why those who are a part of it chose to come. This article is a synopsis of interviews taken with the Registrar's office, (RO), Evening College Professors (ECP'S) and ECS's. The initial stop was at the RO to get "vital statistics."

The Evening College Program itself is set up to graduate a student after 6 years of full-time evening study with no fewer than four classes per week. While no one has yet graduated from the Evening College, many enroll part-time in the evening at the onset and then continue on with a mixture of evening and day classes, which allows them to graduate. Concerning enrollment, there are approximately 110 ECS's registered. Their ages range from 17 to 67 and their occupations are equally as diverse ranging from policeman to professional photographer. An overwhelming number of them are married, have families and already established ministries. Although there were many differences between individual ECS's one thing seemed to be common, generally speaking, among them all and that was a genuine commitment. As previously mentioned, many other things draw upon the ECS's time and attention. Commitment to a godly education, even at night is vital. One RO worker commented that the evening people were "unique because most of them have a purpose — they don't waste time." The RO's one-word description of the ECS's was "committed". The next interview was with an ECP who taught a Bible course in the Evening College. His one-word description of the ECS was "eager". In his opinion the ECS's appeared to be more motivated in the classroom (One Humanities ECP enjoyed this about his evening class so much that he could hardly wait to meet with them because they "hung on every word.") This could be due to what he felt was their tendency to be more serious regarding study inasmuch as they were already "in the heat of the battle." As a result, they leaned more toward the practical rather than the theoretical.

An interview with one Humanities ECP echoed the sentiments of the previous interviews. This professor found the students generally more "mature" and serious about their studies. According to him, they were better prepared. In reference to preparation, every three-hour course requires from 6-9 hours of preparation. If one is to add those hours, including the three-hour class time to an already hectic time-tight schedule, it can be readily seen that it also demands a great deal of discipline to be "well-prepared" for even one three-hour class. Can you imagine what is necessary to prepare for two or three of them? What is needed is some real "Perseverance." Perseverance is exactly what came to mind in another interview. It takes a lot of "hanging in there" to get the job done.

On the whole, evening college has been a tremendous blessing even without the fanfare of the day college and it has been rewarding to come to our teachers "by night" and learn the Word of God or another part of his all encompassing truth. We do sincerely praise God for the College's ministry and that is exactly what it is to the ECS body. We thank Him for your time spent and sacrifices made to equip us for the ministry.

Well, I trust this article has succeeded in stealing a little of the day college's thunder and crediting it to the Evening College Student's account. When I think of the Evening College, the first word that comes to my mind is "perseverance" — Evening College Body, "Hang in There!"

Extension Department

The Extension Department of Washington Bible College has five thrusts. These include: Adult Education, Correspondence School, Radio Ministry, Extension College, and miscellaneous events. The Adult Education Program: The Washington Bible College started as an evening school, and the Evening School has always been a vital part of its ministry. In the fall of 1983 the Extension Department held adult ed Bible classes in 22 locations in six states. Enrollment usually runs between 700 and 1,000 students, with the largest enrollment being 1,291. We are willing to start a Bible class anywhere we can find ten interested students and a qualified teacher.

The purpose of this program is stated in the Adult Education catalog as follows:

"Our goal, in cooperation with local pastors, is to strengthen local churches by helping the believers mature in Christ and develop their spiritual gifts for effective service. This brings honor and glory to God which is our ultimate purpose. The Adult Education Program is a Bible training program leveled academically for mature, concerned adults. It is designed to enrich and equip church members to serve in a wide range of church-related ministries."

The Correspondence School offers nineteen courses at the present time, but at least one new course is offered each year. This ministry provided guided Bible study for those unable to attend a Bible class. About 313 students enrolled last year, and the present active enrollment is 380.

Radio Ministry: The college features a fifteen-minute daily radio program called Morning Focus. These Bible study programs are prepared by the faculty and staff of both the college and the seminary and are aired over WFSI-FM Annapolis, Maryland and WEDO-FM McKeesport, Pennsylvania.

Extension College Program: In the fall of 1975 the Washington Bible College started teaching one college course in Norfolk, Virginia. In the fall of 1983 we enrolled 4 students in nine courses and employed our second full-time faculty member. Rev. Kennard Brackney serves as Dean of the Norfolk Extension, and Mr. Ed Haywood is his assistant. In addition to Norfolk, there are two college courses being taught in Roanoke, Virginia, one in Triangle, Virginia and one in Baltimore, Maryland.

THE ADMISSIONS-REGISTRAR'S STAFF SONG

The musical score is written on ten staves. The first staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat), and a 3/4 time signature. The melody is composed of eighth and quarter notes. The lyrics are written below the staves in a handwritten style. The word 'FINE' is written above the eighth staff. The score concludes with a double bar line at the end of the tenth staff.

I was born and raised in the state of Maryland as the youngest of three children. Through the godly influence of my mother and grandmother, I accepted Jesus Christ at the age of four. Then as a teenager, because of the example of my brother, Jeff, and the gift of a study Bible from my parents, I developed a hunger to know the Lord and His Word better. This desire led me to WBC where I became impressed with the importance of good literature. (You are what you read!) Consequently, after graduating from WBC I obtained a Master of Library Science degree from the University of Maryland. In July, Ron Satta (a loving and godly man) and I were married. After Ron completes his studies at Capital Bible Seminary, we plan to seek a pastoral ministry. — Carol

Oyer Memorial Library

The library staff have six goals in their service to the college community.

1. To increase the size of the collection. Our goal is to add 2,000 books and 200 a-v materials each year. We have exceeded our goal each year since 1977; consequently, the collection has grown by 45% in the last five years.

2. To acquire the finest quality of materials. We select the most authoritative and up-to-date materials available whenever possible.

3. To help patrons locate and use information. Realizing that books and other materials are worthless unless used, our first priority is to direct patrons to the materials which will meet their needs.

4. To encourage an appreciation for good literature. Book talks in chapel, special displays and a course in library science are aimed at developing an interest in fine literature.

5. To provide space and an atmosphere conducive to study. In 1980 a beautiful 30' x 50' study area was added to the library. Then in 1983, 834 sq. ft. were opened up for additional stack space.

6. To train students in research abilities. Special instruction in research abilities. Special instruction is given to new students and those in English composition. In addition, our staff strive to educate each time a reference question is asked.

The primary purpose of the Public Affairs Department is to keep our constituency abreast of the happenings at Washington Bible College and Capital Bible Seminary and recruit new interested friends.

Many mediums are used for this: personal representation, special events on campus, printed announcements, REFLECTIONS, radio spot announcements, newspaper ads and interviews, radio and TV appearances, national advertising, alumni gatherings, student gospel teams and advertising brochures.

Public Affairs is the Information Office, Alumni Placement Office, Use of Facilities Office, Publications Office and Church Relations Office. It coordinates the activities of the Print Shop, Prayer Steward Fellowship and Women's Auxiliary.

more in our menu planning. We will strive to further improve the appearance and atmosphere of the Dining Hall. Reflection is often the child of fantasy. When we tend to reflect of the past (or on the future), fiction can sometimes blend into our own brand on fantasy about what the reality should be! Most times this is true, but in the case of the W.B.C. Bookstore the truth is stranger than fiction! Where you may find:

- a book for a friend
- a text for a course
- that special gift for a love,
- a card for a grieving family,
- an expert who can have your Bible rebound or indexed,

- the newest Amy Grant or Glad Record
- or just change to do your wash,
- etcetera etcetera . . .

The Bookstore provides all . . .

1983-84 was like a "fairy-tale year" for two of our faculty when they had their books published. Dr. Sam Fowler broke into print with a deeply moving poetical biography of his life's journey entitled Songs of the Tired Time Traveler published by Vantage Press. Dr. Thomas Edgar also had a labor of love published. His treatise on spiritual gifts entitled Miraculous Gifts was published by Loizeaux Brothers. We congratulate these faculty on a "job well done" and hope others of the WBC/CBS family will soon get into print!

The ministry of the Bookstore was further accentuated 2 years ago when Andy Knighting, its manager was honored by having the 1981-82 yearbook dedicated to him. While this did not occur during the last year, it does point out the fact of the Bookstore staff's dedication to serving faculty, staff, students and general public's interests.

Bringing Together

Labor Day

It was family day at WBC. Classes were shortened to 30 minutes from the regular 50. Early on that morning students with their parents, children and friends, poured into classes in the Linton building. It was a time for introducing relatives to friends.

Then came Chapel. Dr. Fowler's message encouraged us to meet with God in the classroom of prayer before beginning each academic day; to have a time and a place where we'll meet with God, free of distractions. He urged us to resist everything that would take us away; to cultivate this dimension of our life as we prepare for spiritual service. After Chapel, we enjoyed a scrumptious picnic lunch and participated in various games organized by our faculty. It was a great day!

In his message, Dr. Fowler read to us Ralph Cushman's poem, "The Secret." Here is an excerpt:
 I met God in the morning
 When the day was at its best,
 And His presence came like sunrise,
 Like a glory in my breast.

All day long the presence lingered,
 All day long He stayed with me,
 And we sailed in perfect calmness
 O'er a very troubled sea.

So I think I know the secret,
 Learned from many a troubled way;
 You must seek Him in the morning
 If you want Him through the day.

Student Council

The Student Council of 1983-84 set out this year with big goals and high expectations. As a team, we picked an executive committee, which is made up of students who are committed to seeking the best interest of Washington Bible College. During the class elections we specifically prayed God would pick a 'gew good men'; and He did just that. Our council this year was an answer to prayer. God has blessed us with a unified council with dissensions being a minimal problem. Due to the love which unifies our group, we are able to deal with pertinent issues fairly. Our most exciting achievement has been to help unify the student body by reorganizing student body prayer meetings. Rick Stolpner was responsible for getting the ball rolling in this area. In the past, there had been 5 separate prayer meetings. They were held separately each week by each class and the whole student body. Rick examined the consequences of this and felt the student body was spread too thin. He spoke to the various chaplains. They agreed that everyone was best served by one combination prayer meeting.

Our social workers are excellent this year. God has chosen two people who are committed to the job which they were chosen to do. Lindsey Nelson and Avery Swindell have worked diligently and changed the entire social life at school. The year has been filled with old movies, talent shows, open houses, retreats and numerous other activities. These activities have fulfilled our goal to unify the students through providing a fun atmosphere.

Student Council representatives are in tune with their constituates on the issues important to them. Students frequently submit ideas on issues that are important and they have been acted on effectively.

Overall, our biggest goal was to help students realize they do have a voice in the decisions that Washington Bible College makes and to establish a just community of faith for all of us to operate under. Of course, as Student Council President I realized that we couldn't establish this in one year. We are glad God has been able to use us to represent the students at W.B.C. — Dale Sutherland

Masses of people
So many faces
All in a hurry
All going places

Never got time
To slow down the pace
They think they're too busy
It must be a race.

Why, tell me why can't
We be more friendly
Give some time to the family

Talk to your brothers
Neglect not your sisters
Show them you love them
Show them you care

The Father commands us
To love one another
So let's pay attention
Take time for others.

Good singing

The Talent Show, featuring WBC students and relatives of our faculty, was held on November 4, 1983 in the Chapel. Acts included Musical performances, Skits, Gospel Magic, Juggling, and Camp routines.

It was entertaining, relaxing and a show to remember!

His Ambassadors

One of the highlights of the school year was the musical ministry of His Ambassadors. Mixing sacred hymns and contemporary Christian music with equal capabilities, His Ambassadors provided a varied program of music, testimony of God's love, and the evidence of the happiness in knowing Jesus Christ.

Chapel

One of the most refreshing moments of our school day is Chapel time. It is a time of spiritual encouragement through a Biblical message or sacred music; a time to pray for one another; to sing and laugh together. It is a time to listen and learn. Hebrews 10 exhorts us to forsake not the assembling together of ourselves but to "Consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works" (Heb. 10:24). Each academic day, faculty and students congregate in the chapel to worship our Lord Jesus, and to fulfill Heb. 10:24. This year Chapel services were organized by the different departments and SMF.

Student Missions Fellowship

SMF meeting

Let's face it. Most Christians living today have some legitimate hang-up about "missions." After all, just what is the Biblical definition (at least of the concept of) missions? Everyone seems to have his own little twist to his interpretation of the Great Commission. Isn't the United States a valid mission field? Why does the crossing of an ocean make my ministry a little more special and spiritual and worthy of praise than one here at home? And what about the "missionary call" — does God call certain Christians or even all Christians, to be missionaries?

All of these questions are valid and need to be answered if anyone, including Student Mission Fellowship, expects to legitimately promote the cause of missions. Yet no one person can answer these questions for everyone else. That's why SMF focuses on reeling in some of the answers to these questions. We want to make students think about and wrestle with these issues for themselves, and to talk about them with professors and other students. We want the students to realize that what they do or where they go isn't so much the issue as what they are and who they know. SMF is a group of students who simply want to recognize missions for what it is, and do something about it. SMF is a fellowship of believers together in unity and intercession over that part of our faith called "missions."

Summer Missionaries

Going to Papua New Guinea as a summer missionary was a very testing experience. It was also an opportunity to see God work in spite of my weaknesses. I'm not a physically strong or athletic person, and when I got to PNG I found out that much of my work required physical strength and stamina: I (and all members of my team) had to trek long distances, fell and clear trees from a designated air strip, and build the frame of a house. All of this was new to me. Our team was not only tested in these obvious areas, but, also in our interpersonal relationships. Working as a team is people-work. And wherever people are involved and Satan tries to stop

God's plan, human nature will be tested. One of my fellow team members and I had a personality conflict. He was strong where I was weak; hence, my human nature flared up in jealousy. Later God showed me His reason for having this person on the team. He used this guy to save me from drowning in a river. Subsequently, I realized that we both had our struggles and fears, and could encourage one another. I'm really glad I went because through daily tests, I experienced God's strengthening.

One of the greatest blessings in life is to invest life into life. Apart from all frustrations and tears that fell from our eyes, the Lord used the 1983 Haiti summer team to make this principle relevant to many. The words of Paul to Timothy were our goal (2 Timothy 2:2); and that is what makes the difference. Glory to His name.

Caleb E. Lucien

This summer God led me to the inner city of Philadelphia (with Bible Club Movement). It was a fantastic, growing experience!

I had never before seen the inner city lifestyle, where drugs, alcohol, roaches, dirt, and fighting are part of the daily routine. God gave me such a love for these fiesty children that it was no chore to share Jesus with them, to hug them or to let them cry on my shoulder. (One child asked me to be her Godmother.) I thank God for giving me a burden for them and showing me how Jesus can meet needs and change the lives of even these little ones.

Amy Huff

Four WBC students, Kyle Austin, his wife, Lori; David Genter and Damon Glassmoyer, and an added team member, Drake Allen, joined Operation Mobilization for an evangelistic campaign in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, December 19-26, 1983. The group endured van trouble, language difficulties, and other unusual circumstances, and were greatly used of the Lord to help OM reach Mexican people for Christ. Some of the evangelistic activities were: tract and Bible distribution, street evangelism, film evangelism and a Christmas day parade in downtown Juarez.

Christmas Pageant

In December approximately 3,000 people enjoyed the presentation of the Christmas cantata Son of the Highest written by Phil Johnson. The buffet dinner and concert, sponsored by the Ladies Auxilliary of W.B.C. and C.B.S., was held for three consecutive nights so as to accomodate the many requesting reservations.

The college choir and 27 piece orchestra comprised of faculty, family and friends of the school was directed by Mr. James Bos, Chairman of the Music Department. The choir was also accompanied on the piano by Phil Johnson, and on the organ by Mrs. Margaret Bos. Each musical selection featured a scene, with narration, portrayed by our newly formed Drama Club and directed by Mrs. Catherine Anthony. All, so beautifully presented, reminded us again of God's great grace in sending His son into the world for us.

President-Elect

Dear Friend:

It is with great thankfulness to the Lord that the Board of Trustees announces the selection of Dr. Harry E. Fletcher as President-elect of Washington Bible College and graduate school, Capital Bible Seminary. Dr. Fletcher will begin his duties as president on May 20, 1984. After thoroughly searching for more than three years, the Committee appointed by the Board of Trustees, with representatives from the Trustees, Faculty, and Alumni unanimously recommended Dr. Fletcher as the new president. The Board of Trustees approved their recommendation at their quarterly meeting in September.

We thank each of you who has prayed for the Lord's leading in selecting a president. We thank each of you who suggested candidates for consideration. About 65 individuals were considered and investigated by the Search Committee, chaired by Dr. Watson Pindell. President Miles was an ex officio member of the Committee.

Dr. Fletcher is a 1968 graduate of Washington Bible College. He received the Master of Theology (Th.M.) degree from Capital Bible Seminary in 1971 and later received a Doctor of Ministry from Luther Rice Seminary. He is presently pastor of the York Gospel Center in York, Pennsylvania.

It is with great joy and expectation that the Trustees anticipate serving the Lord in this strategic location with Dr. Fletcher. We look forward to continued blessing and progress in the Lord's vineyard under his future leadership. He is well acquainted with the purpose and unique position of Washington Bible College and Capital Bible Seminary and we believe he is God's man for His service in this position.

As most of you know President George A. Miles announced his resignation effective Graduation Day 1984. He has served the Lord faithfully for over 40 years as teacher, board member and president of the school. He has

Those who know Dr. Fletcher describe him as a gifted preacher with a burden for the lost and a vision for world missions. One of his most endearing qualities is the fact that he is a people-oriented person with a warm personality.

Of course, this is a manifestation of his love for Jesus Christ.

We thank the WBC Trustees for selecting him to serve as our new president.

left his mark for eternity on this school and has guided its growth from an evening school to today's institution with a worldwide influence for the Lord.

Mr. Miles plans to be involved in a very real way in the life of the school by serving as President Emeritus. He will continue his ministry of teaching, holding Bible conferences, pulpit supply and serve both the College and Seminary with special lectures as needed. He desires to give every assistance to the new president by keeping close ties with alumni and friends.

The Trustees appreciate the faithfulness of each of you in supporting the College and Seminary by your prayers and gifts. The witness and service of the school's graduates on the mission field, in the pastorate and other endeavors of Christian service is evidence that your support has been of great value to the Christian community.

Sincerely in Christ,

Men's Dorm

I'm not really sure where to begin. Four years at WBC has been both exciting and difficult. I have learned many lessons. First of all I would like to thank coach Dave Epstien for his consistent godly walk with God. He is and has been such a challenge to me to walk with God. Another man who has challenged me in a different area, developing a philosophy of ministry, is Dan Esterline. It was Mr. Esterline who first showed me that a Biblical leader was not Biblical unless he/she was a servant. This is a truth which most would agree with, but usually isn't practiced. But I think the most important lesson I have learned over these four years is this: that no Christian can make it on his own. Hebrews 3:13 tells us to encourage one another daily for fear that we would fall under the deceitfulness of sin. Because of the reality of our vertical relationship with our Father our horizontal relationships should grow and prosper. My prayer for W.B.C. in the years to come is that all faculty, staff, and students will develop interpersonal relationships, not just superficial "how are you?", but real in-depth concern for each other. Jesus invested his life in His disciples, can't we invest ours in each other?

— Tim Fowler

P.S. Thank you Terri Ramsey for your ever-loving kindness. I would not have made it without you. "You're the best!"

Dorm life? Its a life of learning to adjust and maintain peaceful and loving relationships with fellow students of different backgrounds, cultures and habits. One verse that has helped me in this area is Rom. 12:18, "If it be possible as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men." Taiwo

Women's Dorm

Sometimes we sing

"Are you serious?"

Here at W.B.C. we begin to understand who God is and what He wants to develop in our lives. Our purpose is to glorify God and one way we do this is by reaching out to one another in love. As we build interpersonal relationships we learn to focus on others needs and share in other joys as well as their sorrows. One of the greatest things I have learned here at college is to participate in body-life and I praise God for the people He has used in my life to bring me closer to Himself.

— Jill Rosensteel

"Can you hear it now?"

"Meet my friends"

Living in Steiner Dorm is a most delightful experience (at least most of the time). In the morning as the sun comes through the windows, we can watch squirrels and chipmunks racing or gathering food in preparation for the winter.

Each day is filled with joys, little excitements and special friends. Mornings are calm and filled with the classes, chapel, lunch, classes routine. Then free time; library and back to Steiner; to smells of brownies, warm milk, melted butter and popcorn. To unavailable telephones. To the sound of busy typewriters. To evenings of fellowship.

The idea for the picnic grew from a challenge presented at the mini-missionary conference to get to know people cross-culturally. I'm a new Christian who was taught by friends, family and society that people different from me cannot be trusted and certainly not accepted. But, if we are all members of the same Body, is that true? Just organizing it broke many cultural barriers. The American way of inviting via the bulletin and a sign-up sheet was wrong, so I invited each one personally. The picnic was great fun. We watched a flock of geese take off and land, went boating under clouds streaked with golden sunlight. It was breath-taking. Later hot cider, dinner, a slide show of the Holy Land, and a tour through American family picture albums. It was warm fellowship and many laughs, and the Lord blessed me with many new, loving friendships I cherish. I learned humility, gentleness, openness, and acceptance. My heart-felt thanks to our foreign students for helping me grow.

Christian Service Department

Director Philip Bena

Mrs. Barbara Wommack

During this past academic year we, in the Christian Service Department, have sought to assist the students in achieving meaningful, practical experiences in ministry. This goal is the direct result of our conviction that training in the classroom alone is not sufficient. A complete education takes place when a student is taught and then has an opportunity to put what is learned into practice.

While pursuing this objective, we have attempted to emphasize the importance of personal evangelism and discipleship along with a firm commitment to the local church.

The college has built its program around the motto, "The Bible in the heart, the heart of Service." This is the Scriptural view of education under which you have been trained. The head has not been neglected, but no education has arrived at its proper destination until the feet are set in motion. The head is but a door to the heart out of which, as revealed by the Holy Spirit, are the issues of life.

Convictions are precious possessions. They are of the heart and motivate our lives. Our admonition is to guard the heart. Take every precaution to fortify your service with motives that endure — motives that are pure — built upon your devotion to our blessed Lord.

Dear Mr. Benz:

It was good to hear from you and to know that the Washington Bible College has included Cedar Knoll School in its Outreach program for the next school year.

Please accept our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the outstanding and invaluable volunteer Christian service rendered by the students of Washington Bible College during the past year.

The student team leader, Ms. Mary Ritz and all of the students who served with her, were very cooperative and demonstrated a high degree of patience and understanding working with troubled children.

We hope that everyone who served had a very pleasant and growing experience at Cedar Knoll School. We cannot begin to express the extent of what your volunteer service meant to the children under your guidance.

We shall look forward to welcoming you again this fall.

My years at WBC have made me more aware of the power of the Gospel to change the lives of men who believe. God has already promised that His Word would not return unto Him void but would accomplish His purpose. I know that my preaching and teaching of the Word is not in vain. I realize now, more than ever before, that a great responsibility is laid upon my shoulders as a minister of the Gospel. My studies have been profitable. They have opened my eyes to see God's presence in all situations. Moreover, I have learned to apply God's Word to my life that I might be a useful vessel in His hands.

Cheers

Cheerleading has been an exciting, but tiring, activity. We started out with seven of us who wanted to show our enthusiasm for the teams. I'll always remember the practices. We had to practice in the locker room because the guys were practicing basketball. Also, I'll always remember our first game. The ground was so wet that we slipped around in the mud, yelling our lungs out. It's been a great year!

Volleyball

The 1983 volleyball team had an excellent turnout. As many as 15 people came out to play on Wednesday night practice and Friday night games. Youshi spent valuable time acting as team coach: explaining, demonstrating and planning practices. The best memory I have is learning to react as a team. We were not individual superstars, we were individuals encouraging each other and having fun.

Basketball

There was a big turn-out this year for the Basketball Team. So much competition, and talent in training camp. A good crop of new talent forces the old members to work harder and hustle. Coach Webster has high expectations for the team. That is why he pushes us so hard. He says no pain, no game.

Skip Day

A time for fun and fellowship away from the campus. A day off from classes to take time to get to know one another better, to share what Christ is doing in our lives and have a good time.

Skip Day is a day decided upon by the Student Council when the students skip their classes and gather at an appointed place to socialize and fellowship with each other away from campus. It is also a good time to get to know some of the students that we may not see often because of different schedules.

In the spring a group of approximately 75 students drove down in various vans and cars to the Capital Mall area and wandered around the mall area, exploring the various Smithsonian Institute museum buildings and enjoying each other's company. Some of the group went to the F.B.I. headquarters and received a tour of the building and weapons demonstration.

The group left campus at 7:30 and ate a breakfast of doughnuts and hot chocolate or coffee which was provided by the Student Council and the Cafeteria. Lunch was supposed to have been a picnic on the mall, but the cold weather and threat of rain (or snow) forced the group back to campus for lunch.

One of the traditions of Skip Day is the "kidnapping" of one of the professors. Our choice was Rev. Esterline. From all appearances, he did not really seem to mind.

One drawback, however, was that many of the students chose to stay back and sleep in or study instead of joining us. The weather convinced some not to go, but everyone that went enjoyed themselves in spite of the freezing temperatures and threatening skies. There were many favorable comments from those who went along, and some commented that just getting away from the routine of classes and studies was refreshing.

Founders Banquet

A Retirement Tribute

A burning desire of President George Miles is to see the campus indebtedness of WBC and CBS eliminated by the time he retires in May 1984.

At the Annual Founders' Banquet Mr. Maurice Mauschildt, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, challenged those in attendance to consider eliminating the 1.6 million dollar debt.

As a group the Board has taken very significant steps to reach this goal.

The Banquet was very well attended, fellowship and food were good.

President Miles with students

President Miles and Academic Dean Schuppe

The American Association of Bible Colleges at their annual meeting, made special recognition of President Miles' long service to the Bible college movement. Dr. Robert W. Benton, AABC President, read the following tribute:

The membership and Board of the American Association of Bible Colleges takes pleasure in acknowledging your forty-five years of distinguished leadership of Washington Bible College. We congratulate you on your unique achievement of having served longer as president than any other incumbent president of an American institution of high education. In addition to acknowledging your faithfulness, we want to express our heartfelt appreciation for the quality of leadership you have given to your own institution in particular and to the Bible College Movement in general.

May God's special blessing continue to rest upon you in your service to Him.

Yours in the service of Christ,

Kenneth G. Hanna, Secretary
American Association of Bible Colleges

I first met President Miles in 1951 when I entered Washington Bible Institute as a student. During the next four years I knew him as president, teacher, employer and friend.

During these years and up to the present, he was and is an inspiration, a challenge and encouragement to me personally. I know of no one who demonstrates a deeper love for God and his Word and shares it at every opportunity.

His determination and unwavering faith in the face of trials and opposition is an honor to the Lord he loves and serves.

In sincere love and friendship,
Don Spurrier

A remembrance of President Miles in our lives both during our years at WBC and since.

We recall President Miles as a disciplined man, a soul-winner, a visionary for the school and for the future of his family, a man who kept world missions as a number one priority in his thinking and encouraged students to do likewise.

He is hospitable, and on the lighter side, a real connoisseur of pop-corn! (At least he was back in the years 1960-65!).

During my years at WBC (Joanne speaking) the Miles' home became a second home to two of us who were part of the then Girls' Trio along with his daughters, Grace and Martha. We were made to feel very much a part of his family. I recall that my friend and I could hear Mr. Miles arise early in the morning in order to spend time with the Lord in prayer and meditation.

What a precious man of God he is!

With our love & gratitude,
John and Joanne Malone

What deadline?!

Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.

Happiness is: Serving the Lord with Curtis, Donna Ballard Thank you President Miles for what I have because of what you've given. Thank you Dr. Spinella for your concern and diligence. Thank you Dr. Miller for a life that teaches what a textbook can't.

When we leave the walls of this institution, let us not make Christianity a professional occupation; but rather, a profession of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior.

Franklin A. Zepp

The past four years have been times of friendships and sometimes pain. The Lord has given us time together to grow and learn to help one another. Let's never forget these times with one another. Let's not look back after five or ten years and say "I wonder what happened to so and so . . .". Friendships don't stop at graduation so let's keep in touch after that day to continue to minister and grow together.

II Chronicles 16:9

“The eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth that He might show Himself strong to those whose heart is perfect towards Him.”

We desired God's eyes to stop and show Himself strong to a skeptical world through men and women attending or involved at WBC. In 1983-1984 we, as a student council, did everything in our power to help these students of the Word of God to have their hearts perfect towards our Father. We are overjoyed to say God did in 1983-1984 show Himself strong through many of those involved in our community of faith.

Dale Sutherland
Student Body President

Epilogue

In Milestone 1984 we have tried to present all phases of life at WBC. All that we do is certainly by the power of Jesus Christ our risen Lord and God. He alone provides the necessary strength, motivation, resources and leadership to accomplish His purpose in our life.

I would like to thank each of you, my professors and fellow students, for your prayers, cooperation, suggestions, and articles. Your contributions have helped to make Milestone 1984 a true production of the entire WBC family.

To Mrs. Anthony and to Sue Painter, I say a sincere "thank you" for your encouragement and advice. Thanks also to Mr. John Bailey of Hunter Publishing Company and to my staff for all the countless hours that you put into the making of Milestone 1984.

Finally, to "Him who is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think," and by whose grace alone we have arrived at this page, I give my heartfelt thanks.

The Lord bless thee and keep thee.
The Lord make His face to shine upon thee,
And be gracious unto thee.
The Lord lift up His countenance upon thee,
And give thee peace.

Numbers 6:24
